THE DOG CEMETERY.

A SEXTON RELATES SOME CURIOUS FACTS CONCERNING IT.

Costly Monuments Erected Over Dead Pups by Their Sentimental Owners—Poetical Epitaphs and Biblical Texts Setting Forth the Virtues of the Departed.

Toilet clubs are not the only luxury that dogs enjoy in common with mankind; they are pampered also with cemeteries.

On the northwestern outskirts of London, in a fine old country mansion, surrounded by extensive grounds, lives and labors one of the wealthiest and most fashionable of veterinary surgeons, who numbers among his customers various members of the royal family, many persons of title and distinguished leaders of society—in fact, his prices are so handsome that ordinary middle class mortals cannot afford to avail themselves of his services.

He is a dog specialist, leaving all the remainder of the animal kingdom in the hands of other practitioners, and the fact that he has made a very comfortable fortune justifies him in his exclusiveness. And not only will he tend the canine species when they are ailing, but he is prepared to bury them when they die and to bury them, moreover, with the most gratifying pageantry and decorum.

The cemetery reserved for this purpose is in a corner of a field on his estate; but, being inclosed by a wall and planted about with trees, nothing of the interior is visible either from his own windows or from any point of the surrounding country, so that few, if any, of the neighbors are aware that such a place of sepulcher exists in the midst of them.

"Some of the dawgs buried here," said an attendant, showing the favored inquirer round, "died while we had 'em under treatment in horspital, as you may say, but many of 'em died in their own homes and was brought as much as six and seven miles to their funeral."

The headstones and monuments in this singular cemetery are as large and often as costly as any placed above the average human body, and the epitaphs on them are not infrequently quite as eulogistic.

"This one here," observed the attendant, pointing out a particularly neat and well kept grave with a red marble obelisk at the head of it, "is where two pug dawgs were buried. They belonged to an old lady who brought 'em over with her from Paris. She had 'em for several years, and we were always being called in to doctor 'em, though they were always suffering from nothing but overfeeding. At last one day they were both taken ill together—they'd eaten something as wasn't good for 'em—and they died. She was dreadful cut up about it—she couldn't have been more so if they'd been children—and she had 'em buried here in two as neat little airtight coffins as ever you see. She comes every now and then on a visit, and she pays our gardener 25 shillings a year extra specially to water the flowers she planted on the grave and keep it all tidy.

"Now, here we have what you may call a family vault, which belongs to a nobleman, as you see for yourself on the tablet over the doorway. It's deep and lined with bricks, and you go down into it by a flight of steps. There's six dawgs down on the shelves already in lead lined coffins. If you look through the grating in the door, you'll see the names and ages on the stone that covers the opening. His lordship's uncommon fond of his dawgs, and whenever a fresh one dies it's brought up here and the vault's opened for it. We've another vault like this, which we'll come to presently, only it belongs to a lady.

"Oh, yes; I think I may say every dawg is buried in a box of some sort and a fair proportion of 'em in proper coffins, brass mounted and everything. You'd hardly believe how some of the owners will cry at the funeral. It's mostly ladies that bury their pets here, of course. As a rule, they've got more sentiment about this sort of thing than men have. Nearly all of 'em come regular for the first few weeks with wreaths and bunches of flowers, but the majority of 'em begin to drop that after a month or two. Though there's a dawg buried yonder—see that flat stone with a railing round it?—the old lady has come on the anniversary of his death every year since I've been here, and that's nigh eight years now, and she seems as sorry about him still as if he'd been a Christian like me and you."

Another remarkable feature of this cemetery is that, besides the names and ages of the dogs interred and in many instances flattering records of their virtues, some of the tombstones are inscribed with poetical quotations and, incredible as it may sound, even with Biblical texts.—London Tit-Bits.

They Never Move.

There are but two European potentates who manage to get along without change of residence. These are the pope of Rome and the sultan of Turkey. The sultan has never left Constantinople since he ascended the throne in such tragic circumstances 19 years ago, and his holiness has remained within the precincts of the Vatican since the triple tiara was placed upon his head.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

Very often Nature needs only a little help to get over an obstruction. When a boom of logs is floating down a river, all goes well until one single log strikes something and sticks. Then there's a "jam"—and trouble. It is just so in the progress of food through the digestive organs. Everything goes well till something sticks. Then the process of digestion stops. That's indigestion. Unless the impediment is removed, poisonous putrid matter begins to accumulate. There's a "jam"—constipation, and trouble. Sick headache, biliousness, sleeplessness, vertigo, heartburn, loss of appetite—these are some of the symptoms. Just a little help at the appearance of the first one would end the trouble. Nature is a hard worker, but she needs assistance if too much be put upon her.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets offer the best and simplest method for furnishing this assistance. They are prompt and very effective in their action, but they are not strong nor severe. They cause no violent wrench of the system. They go right to the "log" that is fast and loosen it. Nature does the rest. By and by, with a little care in dieting, Nature will do it all. That's one great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" over the many strongly cathartic pills—you do not become a slave to their use. They really cure the trouble they are meant to cure. Even the worst kind of chronic constipation disappears with their use.

CAUTION.—Some designing dealers do not permit their customers to have Dr. Pierce's Pellets because inferior pills afford greater profits. Such dealers are short sighted. They overlook the fact that next time you will go where you are supplied with what you ask for.

NO CHANGE WITH M'KINLEY

Though Mr. Kinley, like all who remain with the Republican party, has changed his opinion on the financial question from a streng advocate of free coinage to a pronounced goldbug it is not probable that he will again change if elected. He is committed by platform and a hundred speeches to visitors at Canton to the single gold standard. He is under obligations to the trusts and gold gamblers, who are supplying Mr. Hanna with money to corrupt voters, to abide by the platform so if he is elected there will be no change in the financial policy of the Government for the next four years. It will be a continuation of Clevelandism under another name—the same old baby in a new dress.

Are the present conditions so satisfactory that a change is not desirable? Are those who are in debt and have to dispose of twice as much property to purchase a dollar that will pay no more debts or taxes than it would years ago satisfied? If they are of course they will vote for McKinley. Are the laborers, who find that there are three applicants for every job, as well suited as if there was a job for every applicant? If they are they will vote for McKinley. Are the woolgrowers, who complain of the low price of their products, desirous of having cause for a continuance of that complaint? If they are they will vote for McKinley.

The Senate of the United States has proclaimed that there shall be no material change in the tariff laws until Congress does something for silver that will relieve the financial stringency and the industrial depression. There can be no material change in the political complexion of the Senate for the next four years. What then do the people, who are suffering from the financial and industrial depression, expect to gain by the election of McKinley? There can be no change in the tariff laws, without the consent of the Senate, nor any change in financial legislation without the consent of the President. Property will continue to depreciate as the price of gold appreciates, no prudent person will engage in any new enterprise involving the expenditure of money, taxes will become higher as the value of assessable property becomes lower, and the burden of debt will become more onerous.

The opportunity is at hand to change this unpleasant condition of affairs. By exercising the elective franchise judiciously we can release ourselves from the galling yoke of the gold syndicate and again assume the godlike attitude of men, but if we fail to avail ourselves of the opportunity we will have only ourselves to blame if our fetters are made stronger and more galling.

WHAT GLADSTONE SAYS.

Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, who has just returned from a tour in Europe, says Gladstone's view of the financial question is "that so long as other countries owe England an indebtedness estimated as high as ten billions of dollars that everything that increased the value of the coin in which the debt is to be paid is a clear gain to her."

There is much in that statement. England buys our silver at one-half its coinage value; buys our wheat, cotton, pork and other products at the value it places on silver, and is benefited to the extent of hundreds of millions a year by the adoption of the gold standard by the United States, and Mr. McKinley is pledged by the Republican platform to maintain that standard until England consents to have it changed.

Do the people of the United States want to give any foreign nation the advantage which Gladstone says the gold standard gives England? It is a clear gain of 60 cents an ounce to Great Britain to buy our silver at 65 cents. It buys our farm products at one-half the prices it paid for them some years ago, and it makes ten or twelve millions profit on our bond issues. That is a good thing for England, but as nine-tenths of the people of the United States know by experience, it is a very bad thing for this country.

GOLD MEN ALARMED.

The Chicago Daily News, an independent newspaper of gold-standard proclivities, says a flag of distress has been hoisted over the gold quarters in that city. The Executive Committee meeting had a full complement of grave faces, and in its regular bulletin to the press it viewed the situation with alarm. The bulletin accused the Republican leaders of over-confidence, and declared that nothing but hard work and plenty of fat would save Illinois, Indiana and Michigan to the gold cause. Disheartening reports were presented from Iowa, and a letter was read from an influential goldbug in Baltimore predicting certain victory for Bryan in "My Maryland."

It was announced that the venerable Presidential ticket—Senator Palmer and General Buckner—would be sent out on a fourteen days' campaign in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and that John P. Irish would be sent into Iowa. One of the committeemen said Bryan is gaining strength every day, and will continue to do so until election day; and if he had his way he would bring all campaign orators into the Mississippi valley States, and keep them there until the campaign is closed. "The trouble with our people," said he, "is that they have heard from Maine and Vermont, and they think that settles it."

AFTER HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

A Charge of Criminal Libel Preferred Against Lady Scott.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Lady Scott, mother-in-law of Earl Russell, was arrested at a hotel in the Strand last evening. The charge against her is criminal libel preferred by Earl Russell. She was arraigned in the Bow Street Police Court to-day, in company with two youths who are included in the charge. Earl Russell has attained much unpleasant notoriety through the divorce proceedings brought against him by his wife, a daughter of the late Sir Claud Edward Scott.

Lady Russell obtained a separation and later sued for a restoration of conjugal rights and was defeated a year ago.

After the preliminary examination to-day of Lady Scott and the two youths had been concluded, the case was adjourned until Monday.

An Ex-Governor Dead.

BRATTLEBORO, Oct. 10.—Ex-Governor Levi Fuller is dead, aged 66 years. In 1881 Fuller was elected to the State Senate; in 1888 to Lieutenant Governor and in 1892 Governor of Vermont.

MILWAUKEE, October 10.—Eddy Bald won the first heat in the race with Walter Sanger for a purse of $1,000. Time, 2:12.

A lamp exploded at the house of James Gardner of Oakdale, Cal., and set fire to the house. Mr. Gardner was reading and his 12-year-old son was in bed. The father seemed to forget the boy and rushed out of the house, with his clothing and flesh burning. He thought of the boy and attempted to re-enter the burning building, but was prevented by the neighbors. The boy was burned to death and the father became a raving maniac. The mother and an older son were at church at the time and the mother is nearly crazed.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

A Disturbance of More Than Usual Force.

(Copyrighted by Prof. W. T. Foster.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., October 9.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from 13th to 17th.

The second disturbance of October will reach the Pacific coast about the 18th, cross the west of Rockies country by close of 19th, the great central valleys 20th to 22d, and the Eastern States the 23d.

This disturbance comes in the low temperature storm period and will be of more than usual force. The storm center will pass through the Southern States and will cause extensive rains there. The cold wave following will affect all the Northern States and cause killing frosts in many portions of the north half of the cotton belt.

The warm wave of this disturbance will cross the west of Rockies country about the 18th, the Great Central valleys the 20th, and the Eastern States the 22d. The cool wave, which will be a cold wave in the Northern States, will cross the west of Rockies country about the 21st, Great Central valleys the 23d and the Eastern States the 25th.

The temperature of the week, 11th to 17th inclusive, will average about normal and while, in places, no rain will fall, as an average of the whole country precipitation will be above normal. From the 17th to the close of the month temperature will average below and rainfall above normal.

My bulletin of August 20th said: "From the 20th to the 28th of September the temperature will average below normal and within that period the most severe cold wave of the month will occur." Also that temperature in the Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys would overage much below normal.

The remarkable success of my forecasts for September ought to attract universal attention.

In the last bulletin for each month I issue a general forecast of the weather for the month following and to these I call special attention. For October the general forecast was in bulletin of September 26th. Details are given in the bulletins following the general forecast.

The Play Last Night.

"Married Life in Reno," under the supervision of Mrs. Carrie Clarke Ward, drew a crowded house last night. Mrs. Ward was assisted by local talent, and the play as a whole gave general satisfaction. George Bliss as Jack Henderson was dignified and played his part as a member of the 400 with marked ability. M Feeney as Philander Potts was the comedian and was good, as he always is. T. De La Matryr as Harry Woodthorpe, an all around good fellow, was excellent. Chas. Knox was immense as Farmer Baxter, the character seeming to be thoroughly understood by Charlie and acted out in perfect style Jakie Morris and Charlie Kaiser were both good.

Miss Sadie Phillips was excellent as Edith Henderson. She seems at home on the stage and has a good voice and pleasant manner that wins the audience. Miss Myrtle Grayson as Mrs. Henderson, Jack's mother, was an attractive elderly lady and acted her part with becoming dignity. Mrs. B C. Shearer as Emma Watson captured the audience. Mrs. Shearer never fails to please in any character she attempts. Mrs. Carrie Clarke Ward as Mercy Baxter, the farmer's daughter, was attractive, vivacious and added greatly to the life of the play.

Last, but not least, was Lem Osburn as Priscilla Simkins, an old maid. Lem created much amusement and his dancing, while not the perfection of grace, was as earnest and energetic as could be wished.

Miss Loretta Hickey gave some splendid selections on the piano between acts, and Richard Tobin entertained the audience with a fine cornet solo, and received an encore.

Mrs. Wardo goes to California this morning, where she will join the Elleford Company.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Regular size, 50 cts. and $1.

His remains will arrive today, and the funeral will take place from Hoskins' undertaking parlors at 3 o'clock this (Sunday) afternoon. A DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Little Ray Quinn Falls From a Loaded Truck, and the Wheels Crush Both of His Ankles.

Yesterday morning Ray, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Quinn, accompanied Frank Lievre, the driver of one of Koppe's trucks, to the sandpit west of town. After the truck had been loaded, and, when coming down the hill, the neckyoke broke in two, and the team occupied the attention of the driver. The latter told the little fellow to jump, but, instead of jumping from the rear end, he tried to jump from the side of the truck, and in some manner fell under the hind wheel, which passed over both of his legs near the ankle, crushing them frightfully.

Mr. Lievre, as soon as possible, carried him to Mr. Chism's house, where Mrs. Chism took off his shoes and stockings and bound up the wounds as well as she could. He was then brought to town and Doctors Lewis and Bishop summoned. It was found that his right leg was broken between the ankle and knee and the left ankle crushed into a shapeless mass. The physicians did everything possible to relieve the little fellow and they hope to be able to save both his limbs, although the left ankle is in a terrible condition. The boy bore up manfully during the whole ordeal from the time he was hurt until the physicians had set the limbs. Mr. Lievre feels terribly over the accident, but no blame can be attached to him as the whole circumstance was entirely unlooked for.

Death of Jerry Harrington.

Genial Jerry Harrington is dead. For over sixteen years he has been identified with the sheep industry of Washoe county and his pleasant face and stalwart figure were always welcome in Reno. On the 17th of last month he died in Elko from cancer of the stomach and his remains were temporarily interred at Elko, pending the wishes of his mother in Ireland. His brother John, employed at the Hospital for Mental Diseases, accompanied by Mr. Hoskins, departed for Elko yesterday and will arrive with the remains this morning, when the final interment will take place in the Catholic cemetery here. See funeral notice.

Town Ordinance 47 Squelched.

A man named John Henderson, representing several Eastern clothing firms, was arrested a few days ago for selling goods contrary to the provisions of Town Ordinance No. 47, which was passed a few weeks ago by the Board of Commissioners. Henderson determined to fight the ordinance and stood trial. His attorney claimed and so answered that the ordinance was invalid because it taxed interstate commerce, Henderson being the representative of Chicago and Philadelphia firms. Judge Cheney was of the same opinion and Henderson was dismissed.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness, yield to Electric Bitters. Fifty cents and $1 per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

To Whom It May Concern.

No goods of any kind or character, must be sold or delivered to any person or persons on account of Nevada Hospital for Mental Diseases, except upon a written order signed by Henry Wood, Clerk, or the undersigned; nor on personal account, except on a personal written order. Goods sold or delivered contrary to the above will neither be allowed nor paid.

STORY OF THE INCIDENT DEPICTED IN A CELEBRATED PAINTING.

The Magnificent Bravery of a Handful of French Marines—Soldiers Whose Bravery Was Recognized by Their Conquerors.

Who has not seen a print of the famous picture, "The Last Cartridges," by Alphonse de Neuville? The original is in the gallery of one of New York's citizens. Well, in that picture the wounded major leaning against the old chest and watching through the window the effect of the Turco's last shot is Lambert, the hero of Bazeilles.

The story of that picture is brief enough, and yet it has never been printed in full in any American paper. It is as follows:

On Sept. 1, 1870, the German artillery was thundering around Sedan. The French army was shattered. Its cavalry had made that last and desperate charge which brought from the lips of old King William the exclamation so often quoted in French papers, "Oh, les braves gens!" At Bazeilles, where the French infantry in scattered groups continued to fight furiously and hopelessly, disputing every inch of ground with the enemy, the German losses were severe. On the northern outskirts of the town a small number of French marines, barricaded in a house known as La Maison Bourgerie, kept up a prolonged resistance, actually holding in check almost an army corps. This handful of heroes was composed of Lambert and his men.

The Fifteenth Bavarian regiment invested the house, firing at the windows, without attempting to take the place by storm. Major Lambert and Captains Ortus and Aubert directed the fire. They transformed all the openings of the house into loopholes, from which they poured a deadly fire into the ranks of the Bavarians, who were obliged to fall back repeatedly. Re-enforcements after re-enforcements arrived, but repulse followed repulse. The marines kept up a perfect hail of bullets, against which it seemed impossible to advance.

The Bavarians were mowed down mercilessly. But the besieged, too, had a hard time of it. The bullets tore into shreds the mattresses with which they had barricaded the windows, and the woodwork was shattered into splinters. But from the two rooms of the first story of the building the Frenchmen handled their chassepots with deadly effect. Lambert, with pale cheeks and flashing eyes, constantly shouted in a hoarse voice: "Stick to it, boys! Stick to it!" Captains Ortus and Aubert, each with a chassepot in his hand, blazed away with the rest. The odor of powder was almost stifling, but the Frenchmen steadily continued to use up their last cartridges. The little troop was gradually becoming smaller and smaller. The wounded and the dead lay in heaps upon the floors. The Bavarian general, out of patience with the extraordinary resistance of that handful of Frenchmen, ordered an attack by the artillery. A shell fell upon the roof, tearing a big hole in it, and also in the ceiling just above the heads of Lambert and his men. But, fortunately for them, it burst above, and, strange enough, did comparatively little damage. A few men were wounded by the flying pieces of timber. But the smoke with which it filled the place was suffocating and almost blinding. "Stick to it, boys!" shouted Lambert. And they stuck to it. At last the ammunition was becoming exhausted. The cartridge boxes of the dead and wounded were picked up and their supply eagerly grabbed. But it did not last long. Each one was fired, the last by Captain Aubert.

Then Lambert opened the door and with a white handkerchief in his hand limped out in front of the enemy. The Bavarian soldiers were furious at their losses. A crowd of them at the sight of the Frenchman made a dash at him with their bayonets, but just then brave Captain Lessignold of the Fifteenth Bavarian infantry dashed forward, covered the Frenchman with his body and sword in hand drove back the men who were about to butcher him.

So Lambert and all that remained of his men became prisoners of war. They numbered about 40, all more or less wounded. That evening Major Lambert and Captains Ortus and Aubert were brought before the crown prince of Prussia, afterward Emperor Frederick III. They offered him their swords.

"Keep your swords, gentlemen," said the crown prince. "We don't disarm brave soldiers like you."

On the 1st of September, 1895, General Lambert made a pilgrimage to the crypt where lie the remains of his companions of that memorable day. Then he went to see the Maison Bourgerie. That establishment is transformed into a national museum—that is to say, it is covered and sheltered by another building, and the original house stands inside, just as it was when Lambert left it.

But there is one unfortunate mistake in De Neuville's picture. There was no Turco in Lambert's band, and the man who fired the last cartridge was Captain Aubert. The captain must have smiled when he saw the strange portrait which the famous artist made of him.

General Lambert is now in the reserve forces, having passed the legal limit for a general in the regular army. Some years ago the badauds of Paris used to ask each other the solemnly stupid question, "Have you seen Lambert?" And at that time nobody had seen him, and nobody had any expectation of ever seeing him.

But now all Paris has seen him. The French army glories in him. The German army honors him, and every one who has visited a picture gallery or stopped in front of a picture store in any city of the civilized world has seen his portrait. Le Journal Officiel reports that he has been promoted to the dignity of grand officer in the Legion of Honor.—New York Sun.

SCHOOL OF ALL ARTS.

MRS. FLORENCE GREY'S MISSION TO THE UNITED STATES.

Director of the Ladies' International Association Visits This Country—Training School to Be Built In New York—Of Interest to Every Woman.

Chicago is receiving a visit from a woman of national importance to women, Mrs. Florence Grey of Paris, one of the directors of the Ladies' International association. A good many Americans know what the aim of the society is, but more do not. The first of the many leagues was started in Paris several years ago, its object being to erect a national academy of fine arts for women. This has branched out to various countries of the world, until it is now the plan of the association to establish in each country a building for practical arts. The bylaws of the original constitution state that the American branch must be built in New York, else she would strongly advocate its erection in Chicago, where more attention is given to the fine as well as practical arts than anywhere else in the new world.

The idea is to give all women, whether they wish to perfect themselves in modeling, cooking or any other practical art, an opportunity to study under the best teachers. If they come as strangers into the city one of the league will look after their general welfare, see that board is obtained at moderate prices and that their everyday life is comfortable.

The plans for the New York house are completed, and it will be somewhat colonial in architecture. Every conceivable practical art may be studied here—all the ins and outs of wood carving, housewifery, journalism, glass coloring, fencing, needlework, farming, fruit and flower culture, nursing, photography, etc. Charity is not a word to be unknown to the organization, as the object is to make students pay a reasonable price for what they are taught, making them in turn self supporting.

Mrs. Grey will be the guest in Chicago of Mrs. Emerson Strong, who, with others interested in the movement, will put the western section in working order. Mrs. E. A. Small of Highland Park and Miss Catherine Head are both actively interested in the association. The plans for the American home are arranged by Miss Elise Merker of Pittsburg, one of the clever young designers of the country.

Mrs. Grey expresses great surprise at the evident lowly plane cooking is placed upon from an intellectual as well as a social standpoint. In Europe this is not so, and every well bred lady is expected to know the subtle art of carefully feeding the inner man. Mrs. Grey is an excellent exponent of all sorts of practical as well as fancy dishes, and it will be her special endeavor to elevate housewifery to an accomplishment, which it really is. The Princess Louise at all her informal dinners prepares one dish.

One of Mrs. Grey's principal plans while in Chicago will be to arrange for a labor congress for October, 1897, to follow the one in Paris in June of 1897. The International Academy of Fine Arts to be erected in Paris will be much appreciated by American women.

Something of the vegetarian exists in Mrs. Grey, and she devotes a great deal of time to the effect of food upon humanity generally, believing that the best mental and physical conditions are produced in the use of fruits and a total lack of meat. Mrs. Grey is also an excellent modeler, having taken a first prize in Paris a year ago, and she will compete for a purse left for the best design of a church door by a rich bourgeoise in Normandy. She has written more on French housewifery than any other English writer in Europe. Mrs. Grover Cleveland is an ardent supporter of this cause, and one of the most exquisitely artistic designs ever seen is the white satin covered book containing the original constitution which is to be presented to her this fall. The celebrated Carl Gutserz has designed the dainty little water color sketches around each page, the frontispiece being a particularly appropriate conception of a woman dispensing favors to the world. The autograph of every leading artist Europe boasts of at the present day is to be found on the closing pages, making a very valuable souvenir and one Mrs. Cleveland will most delight in. It is not yet quite completed, as a few finishing touches are to be made on the cover.

The Knickerbocker club of New York has extended an invitation for the use of its spacious rooms for a formal banquet to be given the last of September, at the time of the formal opening of the Ladies' International association branch. Senator Coffey, who has corresponded with Mrs. Grey for some time on the subject of education in France, will preside.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Looks Like a Man of Bone.

Dr. Joseph Intzi, one of the well known physicians of Richmond, Ind., is the victim of a peculiar disease, which will shortly result in his death. It began in a stroke of general paralysis some years ago, and has now progressed so far that osseous degeneration has affected the physical textures, making them assume the appearance of bone. This is the result of a deposit of calcareous particles in the elements of tissues, and the body feels to the touch as if it were all bone. Dr Intzi can move his eyes, but otherwise he no longer can give any outward indication of his desires.
